MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE DELAYED PROOF OF CLAIM

Movant Has Met the Standard for Obtaining Leave to File an Amended Proof of Claim under *Bankruptcy Rule 3003(C) (3)

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3003 (C) (3), a Proof of Claim (hereinafter sometimes POC) may be amended, provided leave is granted by the Court. The Proof of Claim filed herein by DPOA on Collins' behalf needs to be amended in order to bring before a Court of competent jurisdiction all legal theories sharing the same or related factual predicate as the claim filed by DPOA. Also, Collins needs to file an amended POC because DPOA recently informed him that it would no longer pursue on his behalf a grievance of his termination for the alleged payroll fraud or larceny that a Wayne County jury acquitted him of on December 8, 2011. See, Exhibit 1

The proposed delayed Proof of Claim maintains any claims asserted in the original Proof of Claim, but also purports to assert the full panoply of legal theories or claims, that sharing the same or related factual predicate as Proof of Claim #1877. Accordingly, Collins seeks the Court's leave to file a delayed or amended POC, which should be granted for the reasons set forth below.

Statement of Facts

Collins was hired by DPD on September 20, 1993, as a law enforcement officer. Before becoming a police officer, Collins had played and coached semi-professional softball, and engaged in other athletic activities. Cognizant of Collins' background in athletics, about 11 years after his hire, DPD officials assigned him to the Ninth Precinct, where he worked in the Community Relations Unit and reported to Commander Vivian Tolbert. Within a few weeks of being assigned to the Ninth Precinct, Commander Tolbert instructed Collins that his primary mission in Community Relations was to develop after school sports programs for youth in the community served by the Ninth Precinct as part of an ongoing crime fighting initiative. His shift was from 2:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., five days a week. He also worked Saturdays and Sundays because games were held weekends. His schedule was tailored to facilitate contact with the adolescents DPD wanted to reach. Collins went about his work as assigned, and continued to do the work for which Detroit PAL named him its Officer of the Year in 2000. See, Exhibit 2

In early 2006, the Ninth and Fifth Precincts merged to form the Eastern District. Collins then became supervised by Sergeant Mattie Lewis, who headed the Community Relations Unit of the Eastern District. Sgt. Lewis ordered Collins to continue in his specialized duties on the same shift, but for reasons best known to herself, recorded his tour of duty as being from 12:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. The discrepancy later played a significant role in Collins' misfortune because it seemed to suggest he should have been on duty when he was not. Collins did such a good job that he won the Spirit of Detroit Award from the City of Detroit and Certificate of Appreciation from the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. See, Exhibits 3 & 4

In furtherance of his mission to advance the goals of the Community Relations Unit, Collins organized youths from the east side into competitive football, bowling, baseball, and basketball teams; he organized regular after school practices involving teams from Detroit and neighboring communities. Significantly, Collins work was not supported financially by DPD. But because Collins was so dedicated to his mission, and saw firsthand the beneficial impact of his work on the young people he served, Collins funded his work out of his own pocket. The fruit of his efforts is reflected in the young men whom he coached, or played in the league he organized, who are now attending some of the most prestigious universities in the country on athletic scholarships, or pursuing careers as professional athletes. For example: Derrick Walton plays basketball for the University of Michigan; DPD Sgt. Lem Wilson brought his son, Richard, to practice; Richard Wilson is the starting running back at Boston College; Michael Webber, running back at Ohio State; Kiree Phillip (Oakland University) now plays for Cleveland Cavaliers, and Al Robertson, (Penn State) and now plays for the Jacksonville, Jaguars). Robert Edwards at Cleveland State, Josh Jackson at Kansas University; Quintin Jackson, a player on Huntington Woods Bulldogs, was the son of Rodney Jackson, DPD IA; ; Dominick Barnes – Youngstown State, Detroit Lions; Juwan Howard, Jr (U of D) overseas; Carlton and Dale Brundage, U of M, transferred to U of D; Devin Marvel, Iowa University; Amir Williams, Ohio State (Orlando Magic); Josh Lowles, Kent State University (Greek Pro League); Dion Sims, Michigan State University (Miami Dolphins); Jacob Joubert, U of D; Edmond Summers, Xavier University (Cincinnati); Ernest Thomas, University of Illinois; Andre` Rison, Jr, MSU, Joe Dumars, Sr attended games (FAMU), Joe Dumars, Jr; Benny Flowers, Jr , MSU (Denver Broncos); Daryl Fleming, GVSU; Chris Flowers, CMU (Indiana Pacers); Deitech Lever, Ferris State (son of IA Officer Lever); A.J. Matthews, U of Toledo; Billy Thomas, Oakland; Al Irendow, DePaul; Carl Baker, Schoolcraft College; Dave Lamone – Cornell University; Jeff O'Brien, GVSU; Braylon Edwards, U of M (Cleveland Browns); Devin Gardner, U of M; Isaac

Spikes, Central Florida University; Jordan Morgan, U of M; Shane Williams, Morehead State University; Durell Summers, MSU; Mike Sinclair, Miles College; Marcus Crenshaw, Cal State Fullerton; Delano Collins, Albion University; Marcus Jones, USC (basketball); Lee Bailey, Chaminade (Hawaii); Desmond Barnes, Arizona State University; Cassius Winston, who plays basketball for Michigan State is an alum of his programs. Over 100 kids that came through his program went on to play at the college level. The success his alums have had is a clear testament to the fundamental strength of his work and commitment.

Upon his arrival at work on scheduled workdays, Collins checked in with Sgt. Lewis, who posted his weekly and weekend schedules in the Eastern District's Community Relations office, and circulated a copy of his schedule to then Deputy Chief Godbee and the District's two Commanders, i.e., James Moore and Steven Dolunt.¹ A copy of his schedules are attached as Exhibits 5 and 6. Also attached are photographs of Collins on sideline of football games as Exhibit 7. Collins performed his duties in an exemplary manner² with the full knowledge and support of his superiors until the fall of 2008, when a letter from his estranged wife accusing him of time and attendance irregularities came into the District. Unbeknownst to Collins, the letter from his estranged wife went to Internal Affairs, where it triggered a covert investigation that went nowhere.³ An anonymous letter to DPD a year later raised similar allegations. The Internal Affairs investigation it triggered found that Collins had committed larceny by false pretenses for an amount in excess of a hundred dollars by being paid for hours not worked. As subsequent events, including a jury trial, conclusively demonstrated, the IA investigation was nothing more than a spiteful, witch hunt or vendetta against a good man, who had done nothing wrong.

² Collins was recognized for his good work by the Detroit City Council and Wayne County Commission. See, e.g., Exhibits 3 and 4

DPD's theory was that Collins was being paid for work he had not performed because the shift he actually worked did not jibe with the time sheet Sgt. Lewis prepared.⁴ Although Collins' with entire DPD chain of command, starting with Sgt. Lewis, knew Collins' actual shift (because it was prepared by his superiors and posted in the precinct, with a copy circulated to headquarters), Internal Affairs sought and obtained a warrant charging Collins with three felonies. Despite ample proof that Collins had done nothing wrong,⁵ and had performed his duties in a transparent and noteworthy manner, See, Exhibits 2, 3 and 4, he was still subjected to the wrenching emotional duress of a jury trial with exposure to a possible jail term.⁶ Fortunately for Collins, he was able to obtain competent representation (for which he remains deeply in debt), and demonstrate to the jury that the charges against him were totally devoid of merit. He was acquitted of all charges on December 8, 2011. See, Exhibit 8 He requested reinstatement a few days later, but was denied. See, Exhibits 9 & 10

None of the factors that may militate against granting leave to amend the Proof of Claim is present herein.

Collins has acted with reasonable promptness to seek clarification from the Court. He has requested a ruling as to the procedural avenues available to vindicate or raise his very serious claims of official misconduct, abuse of power, gender based discrimination where two direct female comparators were treated much better than he was for similar allegations of misconduct, and violations of constitutional rights that his POC preserved, or would have preserved had it

⁴ The pictures attached as Exhibit 7 show Collins at a PAL football game with his superiors, Chief Godbee and State AAU officials,

⁵ Brian McKinney coached in Collins' program for 3 years, and work in Special Ops been properly drafted in light of the mistreatment, and egregious violation of Collins' rights under the U.S. Constitution, 42 USC § 1983, Art 1, § 17 of the State of Michigan Constitution, (which guaranteed Collins the right to fair and just treatment during investigations), Michigan Common and Statutory law that occurred both before and after the City filed its petition.

Upon his acquittal on December 8, 2011, the DPOA wrote Chief Godbee requesting Collins' reinstatement. See, Exhibit 5 Verified Motion. Although Chief Godbee never replied in writing to DPOA's demand, it appears that he issued a verbal denial. On December 26, 2011, DPOA, made a second request for Collins' reinstatement in which it explained that Collins' certification as a police officer was about to expire. See, Exhibit 6, Verified Motion. DPD knew that, even if it did not wish to bring Collins back, it could have reinstated him for one day which would have renewed his certification, and enabled him to find work elsewhere as a police officer. Again, Chief Godbee never replied.⁷ Instead, DPD served notice on Collins (who had been suspended without pay since January 20, 2010) that it proposed to terminate him. His union filed a reinstatement back pay, grievance (#10-005) as to the proposed termination, 12-0137. See Exhibit 1 Procedurally, DPD fast tracked Collins proposed termination, and conducted the actual removal proceedings just about as quickly as any DPD had ever conducted. Before dumping him on September 29, 2016, Collins' union continued to represent him and defended him through the arbitration hearing conducted after the City had filed its Chapter 9 petition. Although the City knew, or should have known, it was impermissible to proceed with the arbitration, it did so anyway with Ms. Ashford serving as Arbitrator. The hearing concluded in 2013; however, the arbitrator apparently feeling constrained by the bankruptcy filing, declined to issue a ruling.⁸ In February 17, 2014, Ashford upheld the termination.

Summary and Conclusion

Collins moved as quickly as he could to seek leave to file a Delayed Proof of Claim. No new facts are alleged. Rather, settled facts are placed into context as alleging violations of rights arising under the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, 42 U.S.C. § 1983, Art 1, § 17 of the State of Michigan's Constitution and its statutory and common law. The relief Collins seeks is within the Court's authority, and benefits from a policy that leave should be granted unless equitable considerations to the contrary are present. Since none such are present herein, Movant requests leave be granted.

REGARDING GRIEVANCE: # 10-005

Dear Mr. Collins:

Per Our conversation, the above reference grievance was scheduled for arbitration on February 9, 2012. The grievant Officer Collins, failed to appear for the arbitration. On February 9, 2012 a letter was sent to the grievant requesting his full cooperation and the grievance would be rescheduled at a later date. On June 12, 2013, the grievance was rescheduled and heard by Umpire Linda Ashford. However, a decision was never rendered due to all arbitrations were suspended and the bankruptcy occurred.

On February 7, 2014, the grievant was dismissed from the department on the disciplinary arbitration grievance # 12-0137, issued by Umpire Linda Ashford. Therefore, the Association closed the above reference grievance # 10-005, based on the Opinion and award of Umpire Linda Ashford.

Detroit Police Athletic League (PAL) Names Jerome Collins 2000 Officer of the Year

Jan 17, 2000, 00:00 ET from Detroit Police Athletic League (<http://www.prnewswire.com/news/detroit+police+athletic+league>)

f t g+ in @

DETROIT, Jan. 17 /PRNewswire/ -- Officer Jerome Collins, a six-year veteran of the Detroit Police Department, has been named the Detroit Police Athletic League (PAL) 2000 J.P. McCarthy - PAL Officer of the Year for his work with Detroit youngsters. He was presented with the award at a reception at the Detroit Opera House following the North American International Auto Show Charity Preview on Friday night. Attending the event were dignitaries such as Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, Detroit Chief of Police Benny Napoleon and representatives from the PAL Board of Directors.

As Officer of the Year, Officer Collins will serve as a spokesperson for PAL throughout the next year at various functions, meetings and special events. His responsibilities will take on an added importance as this year marks PAL's 30th anniversary of serving the boys and girls of Detroit. Numerous activities and special events are being planned to celebrate the anniversary.

"Officer Collins' impact on the youth of Detroit has been immeasurable," said John MacDonald, president of PAL's Board of Directors and DaimlerChrysler Senior Vice President of Sales and Service. "He provides an excellent example of honesty, integrity and sincerity. He's quickly become a respected leader to the boys and girls of PAL."

Assigned to PAL since 1998, Collins serves as commissioner of the boys basketball and girls softball programs. When Collins first came to PAL, one of his goals was to improve these already successful and established programs. Judging from the 1999 numbers, Collins brought each to an even wider audience and set all-time participation records for each program. In addition to increasing youth participation, he increased the number of volunteer coaches for the basketball program dramatically. Collins also oversees the athletic activities at Plymouth Education Center, the newest site in the PAL Tutorial Program.

In his six years on the force, Collins has had numerous assignments, including the Eighth Precinct, the gang squad, records and statistics, a high-priority crimes task force, narcotics and most recently, community relations. While he's enjoyed all his assignments, it is his work with the children of Detroit that Collins enjoys most.

"I've been lucky in that since joining the force, I've had some great assignments," said Collins. "I enjoy my work at PAL as an administrator and a commissioner very much, but it's the one-on-one with the children that is by far the most rewarding aspect of my job," said Collins. "To be recognized as Officer of the Year for something I love doing is a very humbling honor and I plan to make the most of that distinction and use it to reach even more children."

Officer Collins was selected from among his peers by a committee comprised of PAL commanding Sergeant Allison Walker, representatives from PAL's Board of Directors and members from the staff of Detroit Chief of Police Benny Napoleon. The award, named in honor of the late J.P. McCarthy, the popular WJR Radio personality and a dedicated PAL supporter, was created by former PAL Board President Robert L. Rewey, Group Vice President of Marketing and Sales Operations for Ford Motor Company, one of the Big Three corporate sponsors of PAL.

This year marks the fourth year for the award. Past J.P. McCarthy - PAL Officer of the Year honorees include Officer Robert Mingus in 1999, Officer Simone Bell in 1998 and Officer Pamela Walker in 1997. Given annually to an officer who regularly excels in youth activities, the award is open to all officers from the Detroit Police Department.

Founded in 1970, PAL serves more than 10,000 Detroit youths ages six to 16 through 15 sports programs, two multi-service education and activity centers and tutorial sites at seven Detroit elementary schools.

Acquitted Officer Files for Reinstatement

Jerome Collins was recently acquitted of charges that he was paid as a cop while working as a hospital security guard. He is ficer.

By CS Staff · December 14, 2011

DETROIT — A police officer who was recently acquitted of charges that he was paid as a cop while working as a hospital security guard is seeking reinstatement and back pay.

Jerome Collins was accused of reporting he was on the clock as a Detroit police officer while he was working as a security guard at St John Riverview Hospital from 2007 to 2009, The Detroit News reports. Collins' attorney Gerald Evelyn said police records failed to properly track the irregular shifts worked by Collins.

Back pay will likely amount to more than Collins was accused of taking.
